

Smart Dory – Just fins and grins

CULTURE VULTURE, HAPPENINGS, HOTEL HAPPENINGS

CHRISTMAS TREE LIGHT UP! @ E&O HOTEL 2105

DECEMBER 4, 2015 | ADMIN | LEAVE A COMMENT

Hey it's Frosty the Snowman and other Christmasy slide show images were projected onto the Eastern & Oriental Hotel's acoustic dome.

What's a party without a live band providing the tunes to liven up the mood. It's getting jolly!

The guests milling around as the band entertains with some oldies. Families and friends, young and old. Everyone's here for a FUN time!

Sweet Baby Ferrelyn Fan, Mummy Wendy Tan and Mindy Tan loves the Christmas tree! Don't they light up brighter than the tinsel with their beautiful smiles!

Jack n "Jill" and Jimmy the Engineer enjoying themselves.

Hundreds of guest, business partners and friends attend the anticipated annual Christmas Tree Light Up as Eastern & Oriental Hotel Celebrates 130th Anniversary this year.

A ginormous tree with its star almost touching the acoustic dome ceiling. if you're standing up close, you'll have to crane your neck to look up!

The towering, resplendent 6-metre Christmas tree, which was decked with 5,500 twinkling fairy lights, candy canes and shiny bells in brilliant Christmas hues of red and gold, was lit at about 7.30pm to the delight of some 450 guests.

E&O group hospitality and lifestyle director Michael Saxon said the annual tradition of lighting up the Christmas tree was a customary practice since the hotel's revamp in 2003.

The Man himself Mr. Michael Saxon announced the winner of the 130th anniversary lucky draw contest for one year free dining and presented the prize to Ms Ng Jen Nee. Envy envy!

The E&O Nightingales choir group sang a series of Christmas carols as the guest enjoyed the evening's selection of hor d'oeuvres and a glass or two of bubbly.

Later in the evening, Santa made his appearance and posed for photographs.

Photo Credit: Doris Lim, Karen Tan & Glamorous Mesh

◀ CHRISTMAS TREE LIGHT UP ◀ E&O NIGHTINGALES CHOIR ◀ EASTERN & ORIENTAL HOTEL ◀ MICHAEL SAXON