Last year, we visited Eastern & Oriental (E&O) Hotel for its Selera Kampung buffet dinner and until now, we still missed their mouthwatering International cuisine such as grilled lamb, Satay, Seafood-on-Ice and assorted hot tray items. This year, we observed something different from the five-star kitchen, from the recipe level to the presentation.

Perhaps an eye-catching new item is the Special Nasi Lemak Kek – a “cake” made of Nasi Lemak (a Malay fragrant rice dish cooked in coconut milk and pandan leaf, topped with anchovy, peanut, cucumber, hard-boiled eggs, dressed with spicy gravy) and we are relatively impressed with the taste, as it is from a master chef with years of experience in preparing the famous national food. Be sure to try it if you happened to see it during your visit.

As mentioned, Jamuan Berbuka Puasa is basically an International buffet dinner in which you will find Malay, Indian, Chinese, Middle East, Japanese and Western cuisine under one roof. As usual, we grabbed some sashimi and sushi from the Japanese corner but an item caught our attention this round was Shawarma Ayam – a Levantine recipe with chicken carefully wrapped by master chef in Pita bread. It finished real fast and chef was sweating buckets in replenish them.

With plenty of food, we usually do not take plain rice in any buffet but Nasi Briyani Ayam is an exception.

With abundant of dishes, we almost forgot Seafood on Ice corner – the “premium” corner of Sarkies buffet and we were lucky that fresh oysters were available that evening.

Last but not least, we hope that you still have some space for desserts such as Kuih-Kuih Melayu, Bubur Pulut Hitam, assorted cakes, mousses, chocolate fondue, ABC, ice cream and fruit platter.

Jamuan Berbuka Puasa buffet dinner is priced at RM143.30 nett per adult and RM70.95 nett per child. Child price applies to those from 6 to 12 years old. Children below 6 years old dine for free. Other than that, Sarkies is also offering Balik Kampung Buffet Lunch on 25 and 26-June-2017 from 12.00pm-2:30pm at RM98.30 nett per adult and RM49.15 nett per child.
